

CONTENTS

1. Introduction	5
2. Reasons for Writing Your Family Story	6
2.1. Knowing why you want to write	6
2.2. Dealing with modesty	12
2.3. Checklist	13
2.4. Assignments	13
3. Defining The Project	14
3.1. Knowing your audience	14
3.2. Deciding what type of record you want	15
3.3. The scope of this book	21
3.4. Considering external assistance	21
3.5. Selecting your writing style	23
3.6. Choosing a title	24
3.7. Checklist	25
3.8. Assignments	25
4. Preparation	26
4.1. Choosing your writing medium	26
4.2. Finding your own special place	29
4.3. Getting organised	30
4.4. Setting provisional targets	32
4.5. Checklist	34
4.6. Assignments	34
5. Planning the Structure	35
5.1. Defining the parameters of the book	35
5.2. Identifying chapter headings	36
5.3. Brainstorming	38
5.4. Revising the initial book structure	40
5.5. Introducing a time line	41
5.6. Weaving it all together	42
5.7. Taking a break	43
5.8. Checklist	44
5.9. Assignments	44

6. Alternative Structures	45
6.1. Thinking laterally	45
6.2. Undertaking a joint project	46
6.3. Writing as a couple	47
6.4. Writing as separate generations	50
6.5. Checklist	51
6.6. Assignments	51
7. Preparing the Tell the Story	52
7.1. Feeling comfortable with yourself	52
7.2. Being natural	53
7.3. Being thorough	54
7.4. Ensuring historical consistency	55
7.5. Telling the story	57
7.6. Developing the story	58
7.7. Engaging the reader	60
7.8. Checklist	62
7.9. Assignments	62
8. Some Writing Tools	63
8.1. Being aware of writing techniques	63
8.2. Adding depth to the story	65
8.3. Knowing how to use conflict	66
8.4. Considering grammar	67
8.5. Checklist	70
8.6. Assignments	70
9. Inspirational Extracts	71
9.1. A chip off the old block	72
9.2. A turning point	72
9.3. A parent's dilemma	73
9.4. Being helpful	75
9.5. Not making the best of starts	76
9.6. A child's perspective	76
9.7. Sayings passed into family folklore	77
9.8. Different values	78
9.9. Unexpected news	78
9.10. Love at first sight	80
9.11. Decisive action	81

10. Undertaking the Research	83
10.1. Mental imaging	83
10.2. Painting character portraits	85
10.3. Recalling routines	86
10.4. Describing the neighbourhood	88
10.5. Looking round your house	89
10.6. Enlisting the help of others	91
10.7. Carrying out wider research	91
10.8. Incorporating social history	93
10.9. Considering more ideas	94
10.10. Checklist	96
10.11. Assignments	96
11. Ready to Write	97
11.1. Deciding where to start writing	97
11.2. Reviewing the chapter plan	98
11.3. Immersing yourself in memories	98
11.4. Revising the chapter plan	100
11.5. Sitting down to write	100
11.6. Revising provisional targets	101
11.7. Continuing the process	102
11.8. Dealing with writer's block	103
11.9. Checklist	105
11.10. Assignments	105
12. Difficult Areas	106
12.1. Thinking about yourself	106
12.2. Deciding what to include	107
12.3. Deciding what not to include	108
12.4. Getting the facts right	110
12.5. Ending the book	110
12.6. Checklist	112
12.7. Assignments	112

13. Revising the Manuscript	113
13.1. Revising the structure and style	113
13.2. Revising the content	115
13.3. Revising the grammar	117
13.4. Seeking assistance	118
13.5. Making the word processor work for you	119
13.6. Checklist	121
13.7. Assignments	121
14. Presentation and Production	122
14.1. Choosing your medium	122
14.2. Conducting some simple research	124
14.3. Preparing the prelims	125
14.4. Considering the prelims at the end of the book	128
14.5. Considering an appendix	129
14.6. Designing the book	130
14.7. Selecting pictures	133
14.8. Reproducing pictures	134
14.9. Selecting the paper	136
14.10. Reproducing the text	137
14.11. Checklist	138
14.12. Assignments	138
15. Thank You	139